Course Title: Buddhist Doctrines of Pāli Nikāyas: Analysis and Interpretation

Aim: To give a critical and comprehensive knowledge of Buddhist doctrines of Pali Nikāyas

Contents: Fundamental teachings of Early Buddhism, questions raised and solutions offered by the modern scholars on the interpretation of early Buddhist doctrines, the diverse trends discernible in the Early Buddhist Discourses as to the nature of the world of sensory experience and the reasons that could be adduced in grasping their significance within the context of the religion and philosophy.

The course unit will be based on Suttapiṭaka and supplemented, where necessary, with the Abhidhammic and commentarial expositions. It is in the interests of the student to gain an ability to read the Pali suttas in the original texts.

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Lectures, discussion and assignments

Assessment Method: In-class Participation (10%), Two Short Essays (40%) and Final Examination (50%)

Expected Learning Outcome: Ability to elaborate critically the fundamental teachings of Suttapiṭaka and to read and understand relevant discourses in the original sources

Course Title: History of Indian Buddhism: From its Origins to the Emergence of Mahayana

Aim: To give an objective understanding of the development of Indian Buddhist traditions that pre-suppose a proper historical perspective

Contents: The course unit is designed to provide students with a foundational and general, but not superficial, survey of Indian Buddhism from a historical perspective highlighting all the important developments up to the emergence of Mahayana. The main themes for the course unit include: the origins of Buddhism and the Indian Background; process of the compilation of the Canon; the classification of the Buddha's teachings; the Councils; the popularization of Buddhism; the emergence and development of the major Buddhist sects; Emperor Asoka and his contribution to the Buddhist cause; spread of Buddhism outside India; rise of Mahayana Buddhism and other related topics.

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Lectures, discussion and assignments

Assessment Method: In-class Participation (10%), Short Essay (30%) and Long Essay (60%)

Expected Learning Outcome: At the end of this course unit, the student will be able to:

1. gain a foundational knowledge of the history of Indian Buddhism up to the emergence of the Mahayana movement;
2. critically examine different views and theories related to the history of Buddhism in India;
3. apply the knowledge derived from this foundational course unit to examine and appreciate the subsequent developments of Buddhism in Indian and beyond.

Course Title: Mahayana Buddhism: A Doctrinal Survey

Aim: To provide a foundation knowledge of Mahayana Buddhism for students with no or little background in Buddhist studies

Contents: This is a foundation course unit. Its contents are mainly focused on the historical and doctrinal development in Early Indian Buddhism - the source for all later development. The course unit begins with a survey on the contemporary theories of the origins of Mahayana, and proceeds to examine the conception and formulation of the Bodhisattva Ideal in the earliest extant Mahayana texts such as the Aṣṭa-sāhasrikāprajñāpāramitā, Ugra-paripṛcchā, etc. (including those preserved in Chinese translation). It further examines the question of the Primitive Prajñāpāramitā, the emptiness doctrine (śūnyatā) expounded by Nāgārjuna, the doctrines of the early Yogācāra and tathāgatagarbha thoughts. Other fundamental Mahayana doctrines examined include the trikāya, the six pāramitās, and the ten-stage progression (daśabhūmi). Some important scriptures are also selected for discussion, including the Diamond-cutter sutra, the Vimalakīrti-nirdeśa, and the Saddharmapuṇḍarīka.

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Lectures, discussion and assignments

Assessment Method: In-class Participation (10%), Short Essay (30%) and Long Essay (60%)

Expected Learning Outcome: At the end of this course unit, the student will be able to:

1. gain an informed and objective historical perspective of the doctrinal development of the early Mahayana tradition, which is necessary for a proper comprehension and appreciation of the subsequent development of later Mahayana doctrines;
2. demonstrate the ability to critically examine the fundamental doctrines of Indian Mahayana;
3. critically appraise traditional and modern scholars' accounts on doctrinal and historical issues related to Buddhism in general and Mahāyāna in particular;
4. apply their knowledge of the ethical and spiritual teachings of Mahayana - such as compassion, wisdom, the perfection practices (pāramitās), etc. in their living, and thereby adding a spiritual dimension to their individual existences.

Course Title: The Buddha-concept and Bodhisatta Ideal in Theravada Buddhism

Aim: To provide the students with knowledge of historical perspective of the Buddha-concept and Bodhisatta Ideal from the earliest Canonical texts to the exegetical literature of Theravada Buddhism

Contents: This course unit is designed to examine from a historical perspective the Buddha-concept and Bodhisatta Ideal from the earliest Canonical texts to the exegetical literature of Theravada Buddhism. For this, the main topics for examination will include: the Buddha's biography; beginnings of his apotheosis; "great man" (mahāpurisa); "great compassion" (mahākaruṇā); "four confidences" (catu-vesārajja); "omniscient knowledge" (sabbaññuta-ñāṇa); "spiritual power" and "physical power"; "80 minor bodily marks" (asītianuvyañjana); and "18 qualities of the Buddha" (aṭṭhārasabuddhadhamma). The course will also examine the Bodhisatta Ideal, an integral part of the Buddha-concept in Buddhism, and the topics for discussion will include the "perfections" (pāramitā), "aspirations" (abhinīhāra), "18 impossible states of birth for a Bodhisatta", and others.

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Lectures, discussion and assignments

Assessment Method: In-class Participation (10%), Short Essay (30%) and Long Essay (60%)

Expected Learning Outcome: At the end of this course unit, the student will be able to:

1. acquire a clear understanding of the Buddha-concept and Bodhisatta Ideal as developed in Theravada Buddhism;
2. comprehend clearly the differences of the Buddha-concept among various Buddhist traditions;
3. gain a basic knowledge of the development of the Buddha-concept and Bodhisatta doctrine in the Pali commentarial literature

Course Title: Sarvāstivāda Abhidharma: Doctrines and Controversies

Aim: To enable students to understand basic knowledge of Abhidharma in general and doctrinal and controversial teachings in Sarvāstivāda Abhidharma

Contents: The period of the Abhidharma represents the historical stage when Buddhist—philosophy so-called truly began. A foundation knowledge of the Abhidharma doctrines will enable the students to acquire an integrated perspective of the Buddhist development as a whole: on the one hand, equipped with this knowledge which serves as a commentarial guide, they will be in a better position to comprehend the Buddhist tradition's conceptions of the sūtra teachings in the preceding stage. On the other hand, they will be able to meaningfully relate the subsequent Mahayana development to the Abhidharma development thereby gaining a deeper insight of the teachings of the former.

This course unit has as its scope the Abhidharma development in the northern tradition. It focuses primarily on the doctrines of the Sarvāstivāda Vaibhāṣikas and the Dārṣāntika-Sautrāntikas. While detailing the Abhidharma controversies, the relevant doctrines of the Mahāsāṅghikas and Vātsīputrīya-Sāṃmitīyas, etc., will also be discussed. The early part of the course unit will outline the historical and doctrinal background necessary for understanding the controversial doctrines to be examined in detail subsequently. The bulk of the course unit that follows will focus on selected controversial doctrines of importance, such as the tri-temporal existence of all dharma-s (sarvāstivāda), simultaneous causality, the ontological status of the cittaviprayukta-samskāra-s, the avijñapti and the unconditioned dharma-s, etc. The discussion on these controversies will mainly be based on the Abhidharmakośabhāṣya, supplemented with commentarial material from the Abhidharma-mahāvibhāṣā, the Nyāyānusāra of Saṅghabhadra, the Abhidharmadīpa with Vibhāṣā prabhāvrtti, and the Sphuṭārthā Ābidharmakośa-Vyākhyā of Yaśomitra.

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Lectures and class discussions

Assessment Method: In-class Participation (10%), Short Essay (30%) and Long Essay (60%)

Expected Learning Outcome: At the end of this course unit, the student will be able to:

1. demonstrate proper understanding of the intellectual roles and doctrinal contribution of the Abhidharmika masters of the different affiliations;
2. critically examine the specific Buddhist doctrines in the Abhidharma literature;
3. show deeper insights into the doctrinal and spiritual concerns of the ancient masters in this period, and how these concerns fervently stimulated progressive articulation and development of Buddhist thoughts.

Course Title: Doctrines of Early Indian Yogācāra

Aim: To introduce students the doctrinal development of Indian Yogācāra up to the period of Dharmapāla

Contents: This course unit introduces the doctrinal development of Indian Yogācāra up to the period of Dharmapāla. The study begins with a brief survey of the doctrinal contribution by the Sarvāstivādins in the milieu of the Abhidharma-mahāvibhāṣā particularly the early yogācāras. It will then proceed to examine the doctrines in the Basic Section (本地分) (maulī bhūmi) of the Yogācāra-bhūmi which is the whole constitutes the earliest stratum of the textual sources of the Yogācāra as a Mahayana school. Particular emphases are laid here on its doctrines of the two intrinsic natures, prajñaptivāda-svabhāva and nirabhilāpya-svabhāva, and its epistemological doctrines - both representing a realistic standpoint characteristic of this section. This will be followed by a study of the relatively more developed doctrines in the texts of the Maitreya Asaṅga complex and of Vasubandhu, et al., including the system of eight consciousnesses (particularly the ālaya-vijñāna doctrine), the Threefold Intrinsic Nature, the Threefold Absence of Intrinsic Natures, vijñaptimātratā and āśrayaparāvṛtti. The course unit will end with a discussion on the developed doctrines in Xuanzang's Vijñaptimātrā siddhi (成唯識論).

Course Title: Readings in Pali Suttas

This course unit consists of two parts, each equivalent to a single-semester course unit.

MABS 67 Readings in Pali Suttas I: Grammatical Foundation (30 lecture hours)

MABS 67 Readings in Pali Suttas II: Readings of Selected Sutta Passages (30 lecture hours)

Unless specially exempted, the intending student for MABS 67 II must have acquired a pass in MABS 67 I as the prerequisite,

Aim: To familiarize students with Pali idioms and systematically provide them with an elementary grammatical foundation for reading the Pali suttas

Contents: The first part includes Pali grammar, Pali phonetics, parts of speech, different nouns and their declension, different verbs and their conjugation, participles and their function, absolutives, sandhi, syntax and classification of sentences. The second part is mainly devoted to the understanding and translating of selected Pali-suttas and to progressively building up sufficient vocabularies for the purpose of reading the Pali-suttas. This is an introductory course unit meant for those who have no knowledge of the language of Pali. The purpose of this course unit is to familiarize students with Pali idioms and systematically provide them with an elementary grammatical foundation for reading the Pali suttas. It is expected that, at the end of the course unit, the students will be able to read the Pali discourses at least with the help of a good dictionary. The course unit is divided into two parts. In the first part, basic grammar is taught along with Pali exercises.

The contents of this grammatical part include the following: Pali phonetics, parts of speech, different nouns and their declension, different verbs and their conjugation, participles and their function, absolutives, sandhi, syntax and classification of sentences. The second part is mainly devoted to the understanding and translating of selected Pali suttas and to progressively building up sufficient vocabularies for the purpose of reading the Pali suttas.

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Lectures and class discussions

Assessment Method: Attendance and In-class Participation (20%), Mid-term Test (30%) and Final Examination (50%)

Expected Learning Outcome:

At the end of this course unit, the student will be able to:

1. critically analyse the sentence patterns and read the Pali sentences correctly;
2. demonstrate mastery of the Pali language and comprehend the content of the prescribed texts;
3. demonstrate the ability to understand the Buddhist teachings as shown in selected Pali passages;
4. begin to access the Pali original sources for research involving textual studies.

Course Title: Readings in Buddhist Sanskrit Texts

This course unit consists of two parts, each equivalent to a single-semester course unit.

MABS 68 Readings in Buddhist Sanskrit Texts I: Grammatical Foundation (30 lecture hours)

MABS 68 Readings in Buddhist Sanskrit Texts II: Readings of Selected Buddhist Sanskrit Texts (30 lecture hours)

Unless specially exempted, the intending student for MABS 68 II must have acquired a pass in MABS 68 I as the prerequisite.

Aim: To familiarize students with Sanskrit texts and systematically provide them with an elementary grammatical foundation for reading the primary Sanskrit texts

Contents: The design of this course unit is guided by the reasonable assumption that the most interesting and rewarding way to learn Classical Sanskrit as a beginner is to actually read some simple Sanskrit texts that interest him/her, under the guidance of a teacher. Classical Buddhist Sanskrit texts have their own styles, idiomatic expressions and technical terminologies with which the student must first be familiarised. As the course unit proceeds, the student is being gradually and systematically introduced to both Buddhist textual materials, and elementary grammar on the other.

For pedagogical reasons, all vocabularies, examples, and passages for the exercises in each lesson (except, understandably, the first one or two) are selected from the Prajñāpāramitā texts, particularly the Aṣṭasāhasrikā, to ensure linguistic and contextual homogeneity as much as possible. The selection is made on the basis of (i) simplicity in terms of grammatical structure and doctrinal meaning, and (ii) the existence of corresponding Chinese versions (particularly those translated by Xuan Zang and Kumārajiva). Occasionally, however, the need arises to select a few sentences from other Buddhist sources (such as the Abhidharmakośabhāṣya). Hybrid Sanskrit passages will be excluded. It can be an advantage if the student already has some familiarity with elementary Sanskrit grammar. However, neither familiarity with Buddhist scriptures and Classical Chinese nor knowledge of Sanskrit is an absolute prerequisite of this course unit.

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Lectures and class discussions

Assessment Method: Attendance and In-class Participation (20%), Mid-term Test (30%) and Final Examination (50%)

Expected Learning Outcome:

At the end of this course unit, the student will be able to:

1. demonstrate adequate proficiency in the Sanskrit grammar for the purpose of textual analysis;
2. read and understand Classical Buddhist Sanskrit texts with the help, where necessary, of a Sanskrit dictionary;
3. properly comprehend the meaning of fundamental Sanskrit Buddhist terminologies and idiomatical expressions - especially those in the Prajñāpāramitā texts;

4. begin postgraduate research studies involving textual analysis of Buddhist Sanskrit sources.

Course Title: Buddhist Ethics: Concepts and Philosophical Interpretations

Aim: To provide knowledge of the basic concepts in ethics, the ethics of Buddhism, the role of ethics in the Buddhist scheme of liberation and to provide familiarity with the interpretations of Buddhist ethics from the modern Western philosophical standpoint

Contents: The course unit aims primarily at examining the fundamental ethical teachings in the Pali canonical texts such as precepts pertaining to virtuous conduct (sīla), the noble eightfold path and pāramitā. Secondly, an attempt will be made to identify the role of ethics in the path of liberation in Buddhism. Thirdly, the relation between concepts belonging to the Buddhist world view such as kamma, rebirth, dependent arising and no-self and Buddhist ethics will be examined. And an attempt will also be made to understand contentious views among modern interpreters on certain contents such as puñña-kusala dichotomy and ethical transcendentalism. Finally, attention will be paid to understand the philosophical interpretations of Buddhist ethics presented in terms of western ethical systems such as Kantian ethics, Deontological ethics, virtue ethics, utilitarianism and consequentialism.

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Lectures, discussion and assignments

Assessment Method: In-class Participation (10%), Short Essay (30%) and Long Essay (60%)

Expected Learning Outcome: Ability to understand the ethical significance of Buddhist teachings, discussions on Buddhist ethical concepts open to disagreement, and interpretations given in terms of western ethical traditions

Course Title: Fundamental Principles of Buddhist Psychology in Pali Tradition

Aim: To provide a theoretical framework on the nature of mind and its development to release from the existential human predicament

Contents: This course unit begins with an inquiry into the psychology of perception in early Buddhism as an attempt to analyze the origin of existential human predicament. Then it moves to examine the nature of the psychophysical individual into mind-and-matter (nāma-rūpa), five aggregates (pañcakkhandha), six gateways (salāyatana), twelve gateways (dvādasāyatana), and eighteen elements (aṭṭhārasadhātu). Further, the focus will also be made to the analysis of mind referred to as citta, mana, and viññāna, unwholesome state of mind (akusala-citta), wholesome state of mind (kusala-citta), mental factors (cetasika), universal mental factors (sabba-citta-sādhāraṇā-cetasika), unwholesome mental factors (akusala-cetasika), wholesome mental factors (kusala-cetasika), Abhidhamma notion of cognitive processes (citta-vīthi) as a continuation of perception in early Buddhism, and relationship between mind and behavior. Finally, attention will be paid to the relevance of mental culture (bhāvanā) to release from the existential human predicament. Discussions relating to this course unit will be undertaken mainly on the basis of the material contained in the Buddhist texts, both canonical and post-canonical, preserved in the Pali language. However, students are not required to be conversant in Pali although some acquaintance with important doctrinal terms will be an advantage.

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Lectures, discussion and assignments

Assessment Method: In-class Participation (10%), Short Essay (30%) and Long Essay (60%)

Expected Learning Outcome: Ability to: (i) explain the origin of existential human predicament; nature of the psychophysical individual; nature of mind, perception of sense objects, and also (ii) explain the requirement of mental culture to release from the existential human predicament
